

Even as Hurricane Harvey unleashed 1 trillion gallons of water on Houston and the surrounding areas, wreaking havoc and causing $100 billion in damages, Texans did what Texans do best – we stood strong. People used every resource they had to help others in need, proving that Texas is still the greatest place on earth to live.

At Beth Ferester & Company, we all helped in every way we could in the early phases of the disaster, and now we are determined to assess where the needs are greatest as we go forward. As soon as practical, we will consult with experts and will host seminars, which you will all be invited to.

We are very positive about the recovery and we will be Ferester Strong in helping to rebuild our communities. We have summarized our Ferester Flood Relief Plan below.
